

Connecting on Purpose

Online course

Participants engage in a psychologically safe exploration of the origin behind their unique gifts and talents. Through this exploration, participants develop critical soft skills and techniques relating to deepening trust and intimacy, articulating their innate contributions, and expressing genuine empathy and feedback to fortify themselves as a team.

If you want to break the chains that keep you thinking in the same old way, you have to do something different. This is something different. This course unlocks an authenticity that's desperately needed in communication among humans. It makes something ineffable possible. I will be an ambassador 4-e-v-e-r.
